COMPLY365 ADDS SHAQ MUGHAL TO SOFTWARE ENGINEERING TEAM

Mughal brings mobile expertise to Comply365

Roscoe, IL –January 10, 2012 - Comply365 is pleased to announce Mohamed (Shaq) Mughal has joined the Comply365 team as a Software Engineer and iOS Mobile Developer.

Mr. Mughal brings extensive IT background to help Comply365 accelerate our growing suite of mobile applications. Mughal is specifically lending his talents on development of mobile applications that run on devices using the iOS platform including iPads and iPhones. Mughal will also help enhance existing products and create new solutions. He has a wide technology background including exceptional abilities in the areas of mobile and general software development, database administration, network administration and systems support.

“We are thrilled to tap Shaq’s deep technology background. As we continue to accelerate sales, Shaq will ensure our clients have easy access to innovative solutions that run on their iPad, iPhone, or laptop. He’s helping us support our users with smart features, functionality and speed,” added Dude Frank, Chief Technology Officer for Comply365.

Prior to joining Comply365, Mughal was a Senior Software Developer with Ingenium Technologies. He also was co-founder and CEO of Barr Security where he created and marketed innovative security solutions. He also gained extensive software development and customer service experience with Comalex as their Chief Software Architect.

“Shaq has a well-rounded IT background that will enable him to be a key player on our technology team. We are confident his technology expertise and leadership skills will help us enhance our easy to use software solutions,” added Frank.

Shaq is currently pursuing a Bachelor of Science degree in Information Technology from Western Governors University. He has also done coursework with International College and is also a member of the Rockford .NET users group as well as the Loves Park Rotary.
